How does COVID impact our school?

The COVID pandemic has effected the stability of our world, more than two years of uncertainty has taken its toll on our community. AIS is dedicated to providing the best form of teaching and learning available to our community irrespective of the current conditions. Our educational team have proven that with creative solutions and ongoing innovation teaching practises we are able to provide high quality on-line learning experiences for our students.

The ministry of education in The Netherlands informs all school boards of the current COVID regulations which frequently fluctuate and take immediate effect. At AIS we believe in quality preparation, therefore our teaching team receive a needed full school day to prepare their online learning platforms. When in an extended lockdown (2-3 weeks or more), our teaching team provide learners with independent school work every Friday, this allows the team creative space and time to accurately prepare for the week ahead. Friday's also act as the compassionate self-care, student support reviews and team meeting days. Our team meetings are fundamental to the successful execution of quality online learning at AIS.

The below regulations are relevant during this particular phase of the COVID pandemic. The regulations have been decided upon by the Dutch government with the mindset of protecting our school community and ensuring a safe learning environment for all. The below-revised regulations can be found on our website under the heading "Blog & News".

General principles:

1. The school provides as much education on campus as possible to all students.
2. The school is open unless...
The advice of the GGD about infections at school and limiting the risk of spreading gives rise, or
The school has no other option organizationally than to close, because too many staff members are sick or have to quarantine, and no replacement is available.
3. If the school is closed for organizational reasons, the school offers Special care facilities for the children in vulnerable circumstances.
4. When education is not possible on campus, schools switch to distance education as much as possible or offer tailor-made solutions.

Schools have already been urged to comply with the basic rules and to limit activities at school to the primary process of teaching. The following additional measures have been introduced:

- If a person is tested positive (and is infected with the coronavirus), all roommates should stay home, including vaccinated individuals. This means that everyone, children/adults, go into quarantine for 10 days and get tested on day 5 at the GGD for the lifting of the quarantine.
- Parents/guardians do not come into the school unless there is no other option.
- There is a mask obligation when moving in and around the school for everyone. For children from group 6 onwards, this is also urgently advised.
- All teaching staff and all pupils from group 6 onwards are advised to test preventively twice a week. There are no longer any exceptions for persons who are considered immune.
- Children of primary school age with mild complaints now also stay at home.
- All schools are strongly advised to apply cohorting at the level of groups/classes, with staggered breaks.
- Urgent advice to set up one-way walking routes in and around the building.
- Students are dropped off & picked up by one parents/guardian.

Schools are free to take protective measures in consultation with the participation council, for example by limiting activities at school to the primary process of teaching, cancelling activities that are not directly related to teaching or organizing them in an alternative way and restrict the presence of parents in the school.

Scenario 1: On campus learning:

1. Teaching staff work from home, unless they have to teach or be at school in the interest of the pupils.
2. Lessons will continue on campus until informed otherwise.
3. Team days and study days do not take place physically, but online.
4. Parents and/or guardians do not come to the school, unless there is no other option.
5. All adults keep a distance of 1.5 meters from each other.
6. Celebrations such as Sinterklaas and Winter festivals take place without external parties.
7. Both educational staff and students stay at home with flu symptoms, until a negative test result is received. Excluded are children who fall under the “snottebellen” – runny noses policy for group 0, 1 & 2. This means that children in Group 0, 1 & 2 with a runny nose may attend school, unless they get complaints such as shortness of breath, cough and fever.
8. If a roommate, family member or other close contact is infected with the coronavirus, all roommates go into quarantine.
9. For staff in primary education and staff and pupils in secondary education, the urgent advice is to use a preventive self-test twice a week.
10. School boards and schools may implement additional measures in consultation with the participation council, such as indicating walking routes in the school or maintaining staggered breaks.

*Regarding point 1; Principals themselves make the decision about the importance of their presence at school or to work from home.

The quarantine policy from the GGD will be adjusted accordingly. For more information please read the Ministry of Education website.

Scenario 2: Online learning

- Online learning lessons begin at 9am
- Online learning lessons end at 14:30
- Every day begins with a collective morning greeting
- Every afternoon ends with a social, fun or relaxing game
- Gym, Dutch & ELA lessons are live on-line with the children and max 45 min
- Friday lessons are independent learning activities
- Communication to parents needs to be clear, short and brief
- Friday morning 9am are team meetings
- Friday morning 10am student support meetings
- Friday's are preparation days for the teaching team
- Small group session online lessons are preferred vs whole class settings beyond social moments

- *Assessment & reporting writing weeks are shifted up along the whole school calendar, on a weekly basis, in correspondence with the amount of weeks AIS is in lockdown and online learning platforms are the active teaching format
- Friday from 11:30-13:00 Ludios will be present on the school campus for an active social outdoor play opportunity. Parents are free to participate, this is not a babysitting service and parents remain the caregivers during these outdoor play session. Parents are kindly asked to register with Ludios before Thursday afternoon should you be attending the outdoor play sessions. Please contact Mathe our Ludios coordinator; mathevangerner@hotmail.com

Scenario 3: Children receive independent homework, no online lessons.

In the case of an unfortunate situation where a child is in quarantine and the classroom teacher is expected to teach on campus, it is not possible to provide online learning. The parents will receive a link to the independent homework platform and the children are expected to work independently.

There could also be a situation where the classroom teacher is ill and due to a large number of illness AIS is not able to cover the teacher. In this case no online learning is available and parents will receive a link to the independent homework platform.

School laptops & home school world packages

Online learning is not ideal for the students, teachers or parents. AIS is aware that parents are faced with the impossible task of maintaining their home, professional responsibilities and facilitating their children educational needs. All teaching staff are committed to creating an online learning platform that requires the least amount of time and attention from parents. Parents are motivators, required to ensure their children are dressed appropriately, fed and ready to learn by 9am. The teaching team will see to the independent expectations of their learning activities.

Parents are invited to collect the necessary learning materials (school I support package) from school in the afternoon of the teachers preparation day. 16:00-17:00 parents are invited to school to collect the relevant school support learning materials. AIS does not have enough laptops for all the children to use. Please only request a laptop if you absolutely require one. Group 0-2 lessons are also accessible on an iPad or tablet. Should you require a laptop from school and school property contract will need to be signed. Please see an example of this contract on the last two pages 7 & 8.

Below you will find a template of the daily schedule framework our lower & upper primary teachers use. Teacher have the creative freedom in how they design their lessons and learning activities. All learning on campus and online is required to be inline with our school philosophy and IPC curriculum outcomes. Online learning will occasionally require our teaching team to design a slightly more directive structure and can result in a higher frequency of self-made worksheet which support the lessons and capture the children's thinking. Parents are encouraged to motivate their children to maintain a positive attitude towards learning and are kindly asked not to complete the learning activities for the children.

Student well-being and safeguarding

The “noodopvang” special care facilities will be provided for children of parents who both work in a crucial profession. To identify if you qualify for special care facilities please see the link below:
https://www.debilt.nl/fileadmin/bestanden/Corona/Lijst_met_cruciale_beroeppen.pdf

In addition, we offer care to vulnerable pupils, Your school will identify who these children are and extend an invitation to you offering you the choice of making use of the special facilities provided in your district/school. For these pupils, the school will take the initiative and contact the parents/guardians.

Because we are struggling with a lot of illness and a large number of teacher shortage, we urge you to only use the emergency shelter if this is absolutely necessary. The emergency shelter will be provided by gym teachers, teacher support staff, interns, etc. At the special care facilities, no additional education will be given. The teachers of each individual school will provide online lessons, which the children of the can follow.

Parents please be informed that school participation is still required, late and absences will still be registered according to school policy. If your child is sick and cannot attend the online learning platform, please email your classroom teacher to excuse your child for that day only.

After school hours we encourage you to arrange playdates outdoors in the park and avoid playdates in doors.
